YEARS

Our World

When Walter Whittard first set up his store over 135 years ago, he had no idea what the next century would bring. Our story is one of breaking tradition, of family, of heart. In all we do and deliver, we set out with those values at our core.

Early morning mugfuls, afternoon catch-ups, evening breathers. For cuppas that mean something more, we're here to make time for those little moments. Our heritage shapes us, but it's those moments that make us. That's the Whittard of today.

1886

The Beginning

Walter Whittard opens his own tea and coffee shop in Fleet Street, London.
